DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of claims 4, 5, 9, and 10 in the reply filed on March 1, 2006 is acknowledged.

Claims 1-3 and 6-8 have been cancelled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 4, 9, and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Chan (U.S. Patent No. 3,983,887). Chan discloses in Figures 1-5 a hair clip comprising upper jaw and lower jaw (7, 9) forming fingers (11, 13), finger extensions (17, 19), and coil spring (34). The Chan device is capable of performing as a compression device for use by a mother in helping a baby latch into her breast behind the nipple. The Chan device is capable of performing the steps as recited in the method claims.

The introductory statement of intended use and all other functional statements have been carefully considered but deemed not to impose any structural limitations on the claims distinguished over the Chan device in the sense of 35 USC 102 which is capable of being used as set forth in the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chan (U.S. Patent No. 3,983,887) and further in view of Keysey (U.S. Patent No. 5,522,407). Chan discloses in Figures 1-5 a clip comprising elements recited in these claims, as applied above, but does not teach the fingers (11, 13) are padded. Kelsey discloses in Figures 4 a hair clip (24) comprising jaws (26). Figure 11 illustrating another embodiment similar to the embodiment of Figure 4 comprising a hair clip (24a) having a insulating pad (60) covers the outside of the jaws (26). Therefore it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to modify the Chan's fingers (11, 13) to include the insulating pad as taught by Kelsey as such would provide comfort to the user when applied.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
